EMERGENCY DISASTER KIT

BY 8LIST

In the past, dust storms, flash floods, wildfires, extreme heat, and severe winter weather have threatened GRIC. Now consider the possibility of home fires and even terrorist attacks. Are you prepared to make it on your own for a few days in the event of an emergency?

1. Make a plan for what will you will do for an emergency.
2. Get a kit of emergency supplies.
3. Be informed about what might happen.
4. Being prepared means having your own food, water and other supplies to last for at least 72 hour

Week of: January 22, 2019

For Tuesday the 22nd, the Community will see less wind compared to yesterday when a dry cold front pushed into the region. The highs for today will be in the low 60's with sunny weather and for tonight's low will be 36 degrees. The weather throughout the week will be in the high 60's so plan on sunny skies with some breezes. The high pressure will build for the end of the week with warmer temperatures and plenty of sunshine. The highs will climb around the 70's on Thursday through the weekend.

MAKE A PLAN. BUILD A KIT. STAY INFORMED
